2023-24 Employer Reimbursement Plan Student Finance

Northwestern University's employer reimbursement plan is designed for students whose employers offer reimbursement for tuition charges. It allows participants to defer their tuition payments to Northwestern until after the term has been completed. There are no finance or interest charges; the only cost is a nonrefundable application fee.

Eligibility

Participation in the plan is open to students in the Northwestern University School of Professional Studies and in the Kellogg School of Management's part-time MBA program. Eligibility is contingent upon the student's employer completing Part II of this form. To be accepted into this program, all students must be in good financial standing with the University; students must have no outstanding balance.

All payments can be made directly to your student account in CAESAR at: <https://caesar.northwestern.edu/>.

You will be liable for collection, court, and legal costs.

Audits

Northwestern University reserves the right to conduct random audits, which involve contacting your employer about your due immediately. The normal University refund policy would then apply. For more information, see pages Withdrawals on "Student Financial Regulations Handbook" at www.northwestern.edu/
